Founder speak -

Simply, a dream turned into reality. For a girl like me who spent most of her childhood roaming around forests and beaches, it was obvious to turn back to the roots after working for some time in metro city like mumbai. An aroma of your native soil can never be forgotten. And that pulled me back to this heaven. With the vision of cute little homestay. Fascinated about the sea, the forest beauty around the shore, coconut farm and cute little village I fell in love with the location and I started belantara 5 years back. I believe when tourism and sustainability walks hand in hand, it leads to a responsible tourism. Here in belantara we dint cut a single tree while building accommodations, neither we hurt any flora and fauna. We never tried to change or cut the original terrain and landscape. I personally believe, when we care about nature, nature cares about us.
